

Pet Adoption Project

You will be designing a creative pet portrait based on a real animal that is hoping for a home from local shelters. Art is powerful and can help encourage action. These pieces will be sent to the shelter for their use. Do your best, you are not only making something beautiful but you can change the life of these animals.

Your job includes:

Researching local shelter websites to select an animal in need

Planning how you will visually represent the pet with preliminary sketches

Create an appealing description that will convince someone to adopt this particular pet

Use your sketches to create your final design (you can use ANY medium-paint, collage, marker, crayon, digital, etc.)

Put the finished artwork side by side with the shelter photo on a power point page along with your description of the pet and save as a PDF.

Email me your final work by Friday: lisa.casey@cobbk12.org

This little boy can't wait to play fetch with you! This pug and chihuahua mix loves to play with toys and gets along great with other dogs! He was born in June 2018 and still has his fun loving puppy energy! Visit Mostly Mutts in Sunbury to meet this little guy and give him a forever home!

Paul McCartney is one loveable pup. This big guy loves everyone except cats! His playful spirit could light up anyone's face. This pit bull terrier is very active, so he will need an active family. Paul McCartney is a quick learner who is great with kids. He is quite eager for a loving family. If you are interested in meeting Paul McCartney, start your application or contact Mostly Muttz today!

Meet Dakota. He is a merle colored Australian cattle dog and husky mix. He is a sweet southern gentleman, originally found in North Carolina. Even at his age of 6 he is still very puppy-like .

Meet Winston!

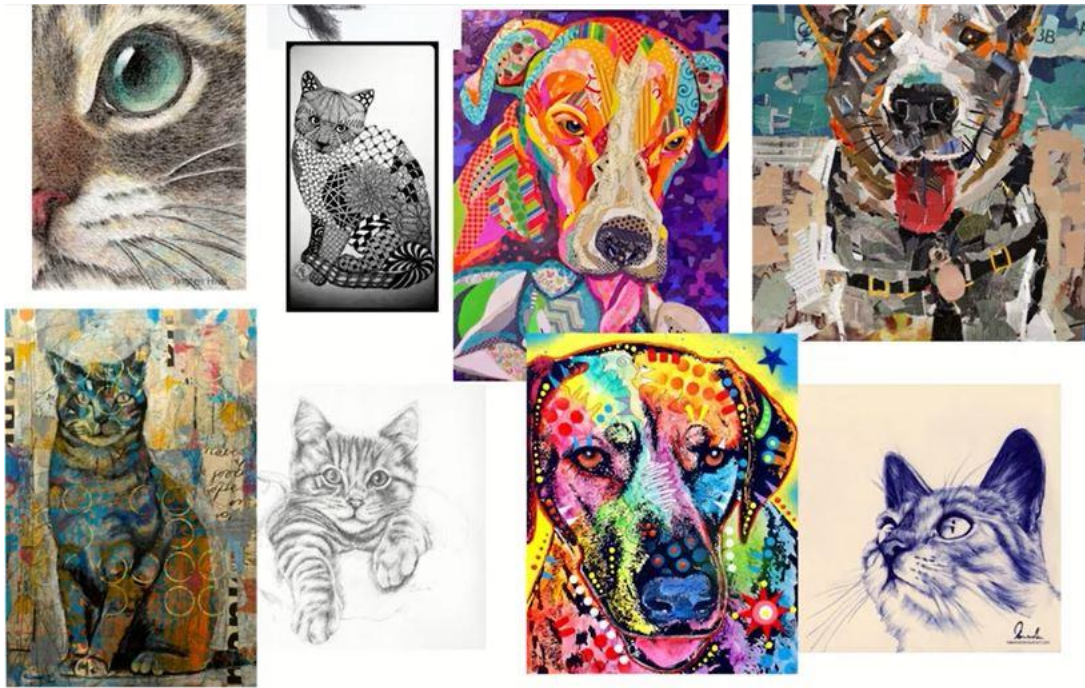

You will immediately fall in love with this adorable, fun loving pup! Winston needs a family to give him a forever home. If you're looking for a dog that's full of energy to brighten your life contact the Danville SPCA Adpotion Center today!

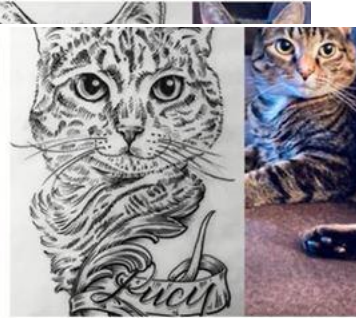

Dante is a handsome young man looking for a loving family. Though often reserved, he can also be quite curious and likes to explore his surroundings. If you'd like to supply his forever home, you can find him at the Philadelphia SPCA.

Get creative with the materials you select. How will you get the attention of potential families?

Consider the colors and accessories you select. What mood does the color create? How does adding flowers or a bow tie change the story of the pet?
